FREIGHT TRAIN IS WRECKED; 5 KILLED

MISSOULA, Mont., July 8.—(UP)—A giant Northern Pacific freight train locomotive exploded in Hell Gate Canyon 27 miles east of here early today, killing five men and injuring 15 others in Montana's third train disaster in three weeks.

The blast flattened trees for 300 yards on either side of the track, hurled heavy steel plates over the train and onto a highway 100 yards distant and demolished 10 cars. The wreckage of the engine, one of the largest freight types built, was blown into the Clark Fork river.

Narrow Escape
The blast occurred just after the train had left one tunnel and approximately three minutes before it was due to head into another. Had the explosion occurred inside either one of the tunnels many more would have been killed or injured, railway officials said.

The 100 or more transients riding the train were shaken off like flies or banged and rolled around inside box cars and reefer. Many

Mixup In Babies Startles Parents

BOSTON, July 8.—(UP)—Mrs. Kathleen Lisenby, 40, left Boston hospital last night, carrying her baby boy—just what she and her husband had wanted.

At home, she fed her baby as the nurses had shown her and came to the crucial task of changing his diapers. She undid the safety pin and screamed. This was no boy.

Meanwhile, at the hospital Mrs. Mary O'Brien, 26, called for her 10 day-old daughter. The nurse was alarmed when she found the O'Brien crib empty, but noticed that in the crib adjoining slept the 10-day-old Lisenby baby.

"I was worried at first," Mrs. Lisenby said when she returned to the hospital to exchange babies.

Bomb Shatters S. D. Store Window

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 8.—(UP)—An apparently home-made bomb, the covering of which was a heavy glass bottle, which had been placed in a small wooden box, exploded against the wall of a grocery store here early today.

An automobile parked nearby was damaged and windows in the store and the apartment over it were shattered.

Police are seeking two men seen driving away from the area a short time before the blast, which tentatively was linked with a series of mysterious explosions in the Pt. Loma, Ocean Beach and Old Town sections of San Diego during the last few weeks.

CIVIL WAR FEARED AS ARABS AND JEWS RIOT IN JERUSALEM

JERUSALEM, July 8.—(UP)—Four Arabs were killed and 15 wounded today when a hand grenade was exploded near the American colony stores in the old quarter of Jerusalem.

A Jew was arrested on suspicion that she threw the bomb. The bomb was of the Mills type used in the British army.

Seek Reinforcements

British troops mounted machine guns on roofs of public buildings here and at Haifa, and authorities appealed urgently to London for reinforcements, to combat Jewish and Arab extremists as a new day of terror commenced.

British navy officers landed at Haifa and inspected troubled areas. It was reported that bluejacket and marines would take charge of the city after the arrival there to-day of the Battle Cruiser Repulse, en route at full steam to join the Cruiser Emerald which arrived yesterday.

Too busy to shave is Howard Hughes, millionaire oil man and movie producer, pictured after his arrival in New York from the Pacific Coast in the big Lockheed plane that he will fly to Paris and possibly around the world. The hop across the Atlantic will publicize New York's World Fair.

Detective Saves Hotel Patrons

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 8.—(UP)—Police Detective John Gabrielli today was credited with saving the lives of 20 guests at the Clark Hotel here when he ran through the burning three-story building to awaken sleepers about midnight.

Gabrielli was nearly trapped himself by the spreading flames.

Fire Chief Michael Dunphy said the work of an arsonist was indicated when the fire seemed to shoot up simultaneously from several points.

Seek Permit For Radio Station

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(UP)—Thomas R. McTammey today asked the federal communications commission for authority to construct a new radio station at Modesto, Calif., to take over the facilities of station KTRB, Modesto.

McTammey is joint owner of KTRB with William H. Bates, Jr. The new station requested, would operate on 740 kilocycles, 250 watts power, unlimited time.

NINE CHILDREN GET BEQUESTS

The late Mrs. Mary P. Kraemer, of Placentia, who died June 29, and who had inherited $49,155 from the estate of her husband, Benjamin Kraemer, at his death last September, willed her holdings equally to her nine children. It was shown today when her will was filed for probate in superior court.

The will was dated last December 7, just three months after her husband's death, September 7. It named her nephew, Samuel P. Kraemer of Placentia, as executor. Samuel Kraemer thus served as executor of three Kraemer estates, including his own father's, within the year. He also was executor of the Benjamin Kraemer estate.

The nine heirs of Mrs. Kraemer's estate are: Mary Kraemer Reis, 41, of Whittier; Emma Kraemer Willis, 40, Placentia; Gladys Kraemer Allie, 37, R. 4, Anaheim; Lucy Kraemer Coniglio, 34, Placentia; Benjamin Kraemer, 32, Placentia; Louise Kraemer Heffner, 31, Santa Ana; Anna Kraemer Hathaway, 29, Norwalk; William Kraemer, 25, Placentia; Rosabelle Kraemer, 23, Placentia; and Lucy K. Coniglio, $4545.

The above amounts were appraisals of the heir's respective holdings made by the state inheritance tax appraiser. These holdings were, however, assigned to the various children by the father with the intent and belief that they were of equal value, his will stated.

Attorneys Kaufman and Anderson, of Anaheim, attorneys for the other Kraemer estates, also represent the executor of Mrs. Kraemer's estate.

Mrs. Marion A. Sallee today filed divorce proceedings in superior court against Ross T. Sallee, charging him with cruelty.

Moose Lodge Installs Heads

Nearly 50 members and honored guests attended the installation of officers of Loyal Order of Moose at the Labor Temple last night as Ernest Dunn was made dictator of the organization for the coming year.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by Deputy District Supreme Dictator Robert F. Shippe, of Los Angeles, and Supreme Sergeant at Arms John Swalley. Other officers installed were: R. M. Conkey, vice-dictator; John Rabe, prelate; Harry Lacy, sergeant-at-arms; Sidney Damon, past dictator; and M. F. Myers, secretary.

Members of the Golden State Lodge No. 29 and Greater Los Angeles Lodge No. 134, both of Los Angeles, were present at the installation.

Woman and Child Hurt In Wreck

Rounding a curve of Flower street, just north of La Veta street, about 7:30 a.m. today, Mrs. Vida Starkey, 25, of Garden Grove, driving with Joan Starkey, 5, was forced into a ditch by a car which was operating in the opposite direction of the thoroughfare, according to reports made to California highway patrol officers.

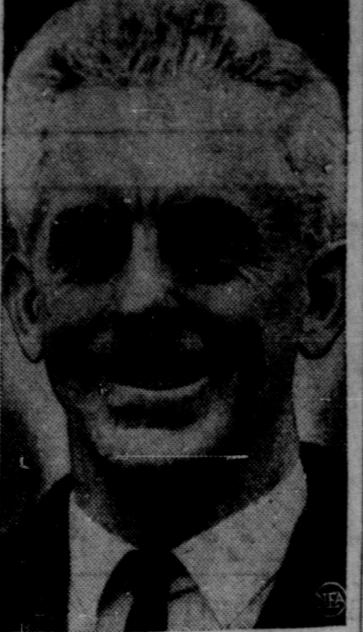

The car overturned when it was ditched. The second motorist failed to stop. At Orange county hospital, where the two were taken, L. S. Sharp, 2633 Bush street, Santa Ana, a passing motorist, it was necessary to take 12 stitches in Joan's scalp. Mrs. Starkey suffered cuts and contusions.

Man Denies Felony Drunk Driving

Oscar Hatle, charged with felony drunk driving in connection with an automobile collision at The Arches, Newport Beach, May 30, today pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Superior Judge James L. Allen. A jury trial, with two days reserved for it, was set for August 2 in Judge G. K. Scott's court.

Five occupants of a car driven by Bernard H. Patterson were injured in the collision with Hatle's car. Assemblyman Thomas H. Kuchel, of Anaheim, is attorney for Hatle.

Sues U. S. Fuehrer

Filing a $3,000,000 slander suit in New York Supreme court against Fritz Kuhn, leader of the pro-Nazi German American Bund, Rabbi Emmanuel J. Jack, above, of Yorkers, N. Y., declared he was acting for himself and "all members of the Jewish faith who may join me as plaintiffs." Basis of the suit was Kuhn's statement during an investigation of the Bund that "all Jews without exception" were "enemies of the United States."

and their dependents, number 60,000, he declared. Agriculture must be on the alert, he stated, to see that the burden of taxation is not shifted on agriculture as industry has a trend to shift this burden and agriculture must protect itself. Agriculture may find that problem of products purchased for relief coming back to it as relief, he said.

In reviewing activities of the National Labor Relations Board, McDaniel pointed out that had agriculture been alert at the time of the board's organization, it would have been exempt from its regulations as it is from the social security act. He charged that the board is biased in its decisions leaning toward favorable decisions for the C.I.O. and that the American Federation of Labor does not approve of the board. The board is judge, jury and attorney all in one, he said.

Pressure groups influence legislation, McDaniel declared. H. D. Nichols was program chairman. Frank Collins presided and a guest was the president of the Agriculture Producers Labor committee. W. E. Spencer of Whittier.

Inspector On Scene

Niemeyer, the air inspector with offices in Seattle, was the man who ordered all "Zephyr" type planes of the Northwest line grounded last winter after one crashed near Bozeman, Mont., with the loss of 10 lives. He said inspectors discovered a "tail flutter" which presented a potential hazard. When this was changed the suspension was lifted and the line again used the planes.

While the "Zephyr" planes were grounded the line used a type of plane which it flew the route for 11 years without a crash.

100 Transients

The railroad reported that more than 100 transients were riding on the train. Fifty men were riding in one box car, an official said.

The right of way of the railroad was torn up by the blast. Railroad men said it would be 24 hours before service could be restored.

R. A. French Gets Suspended Term

R. A. French, resident of Santa Ana and Long Beach, who was charged with issuing a bank check with intent to defraud pleaded guilty to a lesser charge. Santa Ana justice court today and was given a six months' suspended county jail term by Judge Kenneth Morrissey. The felony charge was reduced to a misdemeanor, petty theft.

It was understood French has made or will make restitution to victims. He was placed on probation for two years. Deputy District Atty. J. Eugene Walker handled the prosecution.

The walkout followed a 272 to 22 strike vote taken late last night. The workers are members of the Sawmill Workers union, affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

WHITEHEAD RITES SET FOR TOMORROW

Funeral services for Mrs. Virginia Adelaide Whitehead, 88, of 902 Brown street, who for the last 53 years had resided in Orange county, will be conducted at the Brown and Wagner Colonial Chapel at 2 p.m. tomorrow, with the Rev. W. S. Buchanan in charge. Mrs. Whitehead died at her home yesterday after a long illness.

Mrs. Whitehead came to Santa Ana 53 years ago from Arkansas, settled in the Villa Park district, joined the Orange Christian Church at that time, and later moved to this city, where she joined the Santa Ana Christian church.

A widow, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Jess Ainsworth, of Orange; and one son, William S. Whitehead, of Irvine. Burial will be in the Santa Ana cemetery.

wung 'round and stopped. Both motors were shaken loose by the impact.

"I don't know how it happened," Bulkley said.

A. R. Mensinger, division traffic manager, also was puzzled by the circumstances of the crash. He indicated the line would start its own investigation immediately. A. J. Niemeyer, a bureau of air commerce inspector who was on the plane, was ordered by his Washington office, to start the government's inquiry.

Head Injury Fatal

Mrs. N. S. Mackie of Evanston, Ill., died an hour and a half after the accident from a head injury suffered when she was thrown clear of the plane. Her husband suffered a dislocated shoulder and Mrs. W. J. Tindall of Slocum, British Columbia, was bruised about the head and shoulders.

Others on the plane besides Bulkley and Niemeyer were P. S. Brisblaw, Wallace, Ida.; C. V. Gary, Chicago; W. C. Billinger, Bremerton, Wash.; G. B. Tessum, Billings and L. S. Doan, the co-pilot.

The accident occurred about 2:53 a.m. MST. Airport attendants, following the plane's lights as it roared away from the field, saw it falter and glide downward. They found the wreckage in a short time.

the legislature."

Foreman J. L. R. Marsh also issued a statement explaining the jury's action. He said:

"The evidence shows conclusively that each of two members of the California legislature accepted money from individuals or interests selfishly concerned in the success or defeat of measures pending or to be presented to the legislature.

Evidence Lacking

"The jury cannot consider an assumption that the payments proven were calculated to influence the vote on the proposed legislation. The fact must be demonstrated."

"Receipt of monies is admitted by both legislators and there is not sufficient evidence to discredit their own testimony, voluntarily laid before this jury, that the monies paid them were for legal services rendered."

In the Desmond matter, Marsh said the jury was not satisfied by the evidence that Mr. Desmond was not practicing law rather than functioning as a member of the California assembly."

Regarding the accusation against Hornblower the foreman declared the evidence "shows definitely that Hornblower bore the relationship of attorney to client to those from whom he received his fee."

Building Inspector Harold Rasmussen will be in charge of arranging games, including races and baseball; Water Superintendent Hugh Neighbour, in charge of dinner preparations, according to Secretary Ruby Bush.

During the evening, the Coca-Cola company presented a group of slide pictures entitled "Along Main Street," which depicted the art of selling personality.

Arrangements could be made whereby the Southern Pacific line could join the Santa Fe division at a point near Placentia that would give the line entrance into the city. If the move by the S. P. were made, a saving of two bridges, three culverts, two crossings and crossings over Flower, Broadway, Bush and Santa Clara streets would be eliminated, it was pointed out.

Interview Arranged

The executive committee of the Santa Fe chamber today appointed Fred Harvey Gardner, William Penn, and Fred Merker as a committee of three to confer with C. F. Donatin, superintendent of operations for the Southern Pacific line this afternoon.

Those at the meeting this morning were George Dunton, Harry Hanson, Fred Merker, W. F. Croddy and Howard L. Wood.

The city's interest in the move is in the advancement of the value of property along the present line of the Southern Pacific tracks.

It is reported that about 1000 foreign-made automobiles are bought each year by resident Americans. The reason for the small number is that parts are hard to obtain in case repairs are necessary.

FARMERS PICK GROUP LEADERS

Directors of the Orange County Farm Bureau yesterday added their opposition to that expressed by other organizations in the county to a proposed tax rate increase for county advertising purposes. Action of the directors expressed the feeling that the present funds devoted to advertising should not be increased.

Opposition also was expressed to a proposal to extend building, plumbing and electrical requirements into unincorporated areas of the county not now under the restriction of ordinances. In 1933 an ordinance was created in Orange county regulating such matters as applied to certain parts of the rural area. This ordinance was later amended to some extent. The farm bureau will oppose, it is stated, any further regulation upon the unincorporated area of the county.

Marsile is Named

The meeting was marked by the appointment of Ray Marsile, Tustin, as chairman of recreation of the county farm bureau, which will make him a member of the board of directors.

S. W. Stanley, Tustin, was appointed chairman of the farm bureau news committee and Mrs. H. H. Gardner, Orange, chairman of the county home department, and J. A. Porter, Orange, chairman of the citrus department, were seated as directors. The resignation of L. A. Bortz, Orange, as director and a member of the Tax Committee was accepted and a nominating committee appointed to name his successor. The resignation became necessary because of a provision in the by-laws of the Farm Bureau, requiring that any officers becoming candidate for public office shall immediately resign. Bortz is a candidate for supervisor in the 4th district.

To Watch Tax Work

An appeal was made to members of the farm bureau especially and to other interested parties to make a special effort to attend school budget hearings which will be held during the next few weeks. "Farmers and other heavy property tax payers," stated F. C. Lathan, chairman of the tax committee, "are especially interested in school budgets, due to their heavy property tax rates. So it is urged that every member attend the meetings and lend their support to an economical and efficient administration.

Lucheon was served to the directors and to the officers of the county home department by the Anaheim home department, headed by Mrs. A. A. Fischer, chairman.

Pension Advocates To Join Sessions

Several old-age pension advocates from Orange county will journey to San Bernardino tomorrow for a series of meetings to be held under the auspices of the General Welfare Centers of the 18th District.

Harold P. Thoreson will address a meeting at General Welfare headquarters, 649 Third street, at 2:30 p.m. A reception and dinner will be held for Congressman and Mrs. Sheppard at the same place at 5:30. Sheppard will speak in Pioneer Park, San Bernardino, at 7:30 on "Why the General Welfare Act, H. R. 4199 Was Not Passed by the 75th Congress."

Newport Legion Officers Elected

NEXT BEACH, July 8.—Officer for the new year were nominated at the meeting this week of the Newport Beach American Legion post. Morgan Leonard heads the group as commander, Ralph Randal, first vice commander; R. S. Downing, second vice commander.

Scheduled for an early Legion program are Orval Lloyd and Bill Dickey who attended the Boys' State at Sacramento.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kind and

EXECUTION BREAKS CENTURY-OLD TRADITION

MICHIGAN MAN DIES AT DAWN

SEAL BEACH SOON MAY HAVE FIRST DRAW POKER BUSINESS

Seal Beach may soon have a draw poker business, the first in Orange county under city license.

Heads Early Birds

H. D. Barrett, of 1015 Hellman avenue, and D. C. Barrett, of 156 St. Joseph street, both of Long Beach, filed application with the Seal Beach city council last night for a permit to open a card room.

Ruled As Legal
The Barretts have a building under option pending the decision of the council expected at the next session.

Under a ruling of U. S. Webb, state attorney general, draw poker is legal. Other forms of poker come under the heading of illegal games.

Appeal Fails
Gov. Frank Murphy made an 11th hour appeal to President Roosevelt to preserve Michigan's tradition and remove the hanging to another state. Judge Arthur Tuttle, who sentenced Chebatoris, blocked the last hope to transfer the site when he ruled yesterday that the execution must be carried out according to the sentence—in Michigan.

The execution was the first in the nation under the death clause of the national bank robbery act.

The gallows on which Chebatoris died was erected in a corner of one wing of the main prison farm building. An improvised shed concealed it from the view of other prisoners.

Holdup Fails
The crime for which Chebatoris was hanged occurred last Sept. 29 at Midland, Mich. With a prison acquaintance, Jack Gracy, they marched into the Chemical State Savings Bank at Midland shortly before noon and encountered President C. H. Macomber, 65, inside the door. When Macomber saw their guns, he leaped on Gracy and struggled. Chebatoris fired a shot at Cashier Paul Bywater. Then Gracy's gun barked, a bullet striking the bank president. Macomber and Bywater both slumped to the floor, seriously but not fatally wounded.

Cursing their failure, the thugs leaped into an automobile and started their flight. The commotion attracted the attention of Dr. Frank L. Hardy, a dentist whose office was above the bank. Hardy fired his deer rifle at the fleeing car. His first shot struck Cheba-toris, the driver, and forced the car into an iron fence.

The gunmen then began firing a war-like fusillade of shots. One of them mortally wounded Henry L. Porter, a Bay City, Mich., truck driver. The dentist's gun barked again and Gracy fell dead. Chebatoris surrendered.

WOMAN IS REVIVED
Police, a doctor and the Orange County Ambulance service were called to 2202 North Main yesterday afternoon to give first aid to a woman who had fainted. She was revived and taken home.

Army and Diseases
Other speakers were Relie Chew, who recounted experiences in France during the World War in a talk titled, "Bread," referring to the coarse product of the French army kitchen; John Jacobi on "Why Should They Be Social Outcasts?," discussing the present campaign of education on social diseases and the dangers of making outcasts of many who may be innocent victims; and Ted Macbird on "Modern Architecture vs. Conventional Architecture," presenting a building contractor's views on the trend toward new build-

In 1937, it was estimated that there were approximately 10,000,000 women drivers. In 1930, there were, 65 women drivers. In 1930, there were, 65 women drivers.

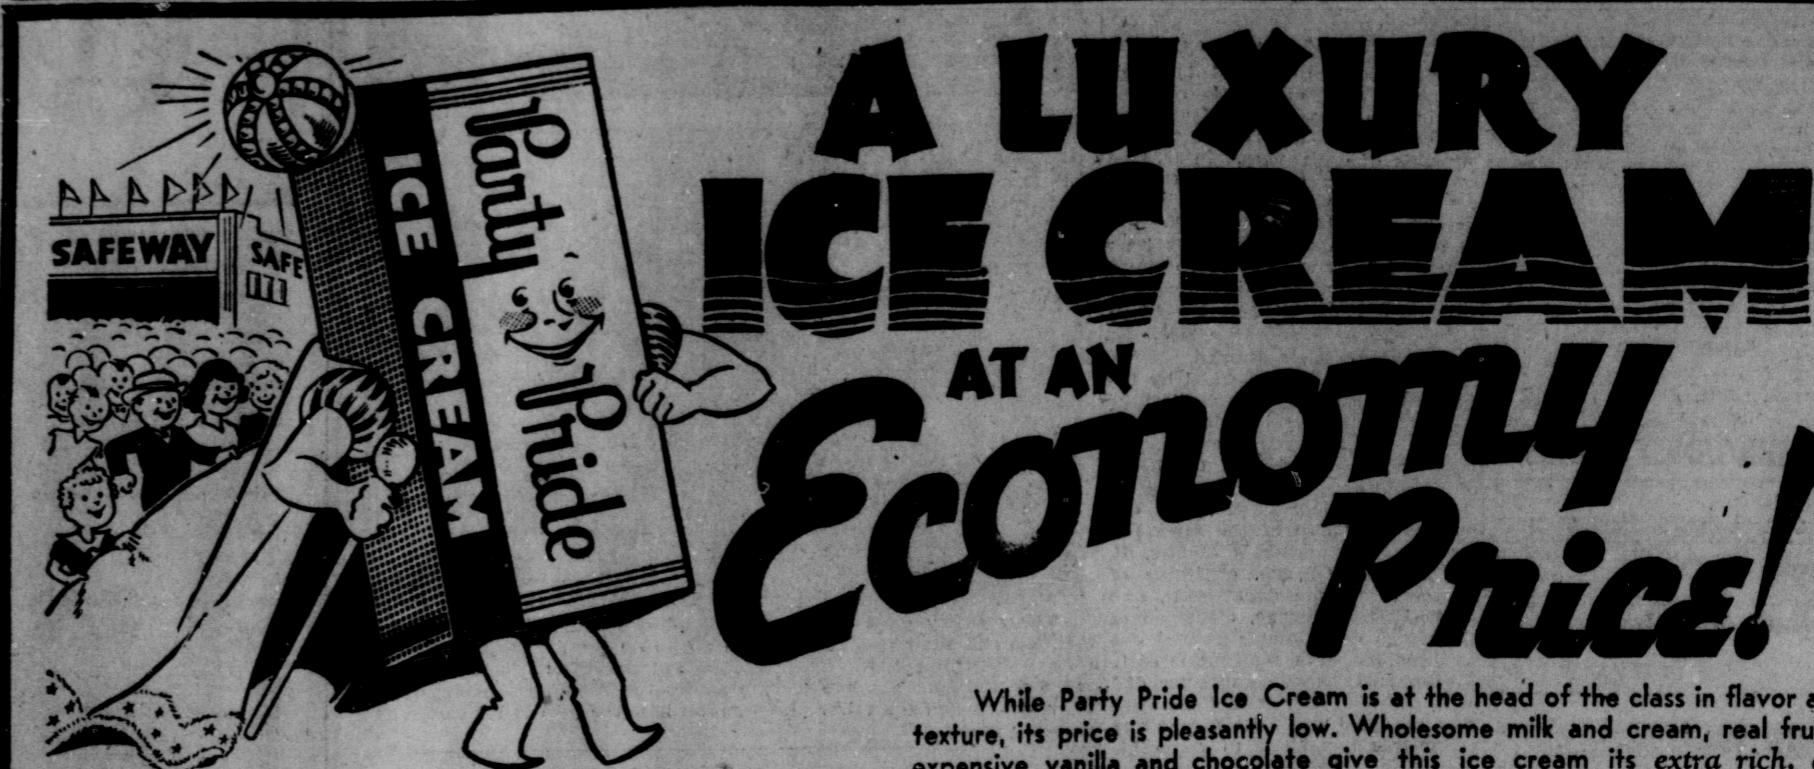

SEEK STOLEN AUTO

Frank DeLoge, 209 Cypress, told police yesterday a 1930 Pontiac coupe, license S-X-3031, had belonged to the Golden West Citrus association, Tustin, was stolen early yesterday or the night before. The car is valued at $175. Sergeant J. F. McWilliams put out an all-point police broadcast in an effort to locate the car.

VICTIM OF HEART ATTACK IS FOUND

The partly decomposed body of an unidentified transient man was found by M. A. Duncan, 225 East Commonwealth avenue, yesterday afternoon in a grove along the Union Pacific tracks between Richman and Nicholas avenues, in West Fullerton, Deputy Coroner Bert Castle reported.

The man's death, about 10 days ago, was the result of a heart attack, investigation showed. Apparently he died in his sleep.

Duncan, employee of the Val Vista cannery, was walking to Fullerton from the cannery when the discovery was made. The body was wrapped in blankets which the man had been using in his treks. The body was removed to the McAulay and Suters funeral chapel. No inquest will be held.

DRIVERS ARE FINED

Three speeders were fined yesterday after pleading guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell. They are Lloyd Smith, Los Angeles, $10; Robert Travis, Whittier, $8, and Robert Henry, Glendale, $5. C. G. Bryan, Long Beach, was fined $5 for making a "U" turn at an unlawful place and an additional $2 for failing to appear in court at the proper time.

FULLERTON CITY HALL PLAN LOSES

FULLERTON, July 8.—Construction of a new city hall on the Americana park site in Fullerton was blocked again yesterday when voters, in a tight ballot, expressed themselves as against the issue.

The balloting was on repeal of an ordinance that limited use of the park to recreation purposes. Had the ordinance been repealed, councilmen were planning to construct a new city hall at the corner of Commonwealth and Highland avenues, and to purchase another two and a half acres at the west side of the park to increase the play area.

The vote yesterday was 1059 for repealing the ordinance to 1238 for retaining it.

Councilmen were to hold a meeting today to determine the next line of action.

Three U. S. Air Job Tests Opened

Open competition examinations for three positions in the aviation department of the state and in Hawaii and a position as storekeeper in the war department were announced today by Frank Cannon, civil service examiner.

The three positions listed by Cannon are: aircraft instrument mechanic; junior aircraft instrument mechanic; and aircraft instrument mechanic's helper.

The necessary forms and information may be secured from civil service boards of examiners in Anaheim, Fullerton and Santa Ana. All applications must be on file with the manager of the 12th U. S. Civil Service district, Room 119, Federal Office Building, San Francisco, not later than July 26.

Man In Fight To Work Out Fine

Pleading guilty to a charge of fighting, Joe Guerra, Santa Anita Mexican colony, was fined $25 by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday. He agreed to work out the fine.

On a bench warrant issued by Judge Mitchell, David F. Drake, 20, transient, was arrested yesterday by Officer Tom Kinney of Santa Ana and taken to county jail. Drake had failed to make regular payments on a $25 fine for being intoxicated, the officer said. Drake must serve out the fine at the rate of $2 per day.

"WHY SLEEP?" STILL MYSTERY

MAMMOTH CAVE, Ky., July 8.—(UPI)—Dr. Nathaniel Kleitman and Bruce Richardson, University of Chicago physiologists who have lived for 33 days in one of the hundreds of caverns in Mammoth Cave, disagreed today in their opinion on whether man can adjust himself to a 28-hour cycle.

They came up last night from a subterranean "apartment" 118 feet from the surface, where they had carried on a sleep-work-play experiment since June 4.

Still Had Urge

Richardson, a 30-year-old Furman university graduate and an advanced student in physiology at the University of Chicago, said he had been able to adapt himself completely to a schedule of nine hours sleep, 10 hours work, and nine hours recreation. Dr. Kleitman, who is 40, said he had not been as successful.

"I still had the urge to sleep, eat and work at normal times, on the 24-hour a day basis," he said.

The scientists left for Chicago today to continue their experiment. They said they may try another on a 21-hour basis. Their department has been conducting such experiments since 1922 to learn the "how and why" of sleep.

SWISS RESENT GERMAN IDEAS

ZURICH, — (UPI)—Constant references in German newspapers to Switzerland as a German state, the Swiss people as German settlers and the Swiss Alps as the "German Alps," are arousing indignation among the Swiss.

Particularly since the Nazification of Austria, the Swiss have been following the German press closely. The Swiss, who do not speak high German, but Germanic dialect, reject Nazi theories.

Recently a newspaper said:

"We Swiss are not partly German, partly French, partly Italian, but entirely Swiss. The ground on which we live is not German, but Swiss."

Some time ago a well known Swiss writer said that if the language were the motive for annexation by Germany, the majority of the Swiss people would prefer to speak French or any other language.

Press Resents Statements

There was a violent reaction in the Swiss press to several statements in a recent issue of the Nazi review, "Der Schulungsbuch," an official publication edited by the Hauptschulungsamt of the Nazi party.

This publication which is said to have a circulation of about 3,000,000 asserts that Switzerland is a German country or a German state, like Austria and Luxembourg. With this review is issued a Volkstumskarte, or map, asserting showing the extent of the German language and race in Europe. This map gives the same red color to Switzerland as to Germany, Austria, Alsace, Luxembourg and the German Sudeten region of Czechoslovakia.

On the other hand, the Polish Corridor and the Southern Tyrol are classified as countries of mixed races. A similar map was published on April 10 in the Essen National Zeitung, which also carried an article in which Switzerland was described as a country whose inhabitants were German settlers.

The German minister in Berne afterward informed the Federal Council that the issue of the Schulungsbuch was suppressed.

A recently published geography, edited by H. Harms, and titled "Germany, a Small National Geography," includes Switzerland among the German provinces and countries and also mentions "The German Alps of Switzerland." In this book the highest mountain in Germany is given as the Finsterni Aarhorn, which is in the Bernese Alps.

To Seize Nazi Literature

This propaganda led the Federal Council to vote a decree authorizing the federal prosecutor to seize Nazi literature.

In addition, pressure is reported to have been exerted upon Swiss theaters by Nazis, as German actors have to be employed because of a shortage of outstanding Swiss players.

German authorities boycotted the Basel theater and the Zurich Schauspielhaus on the grounds that plays with anti-Nazi tendencies were staged.

But Switzerland's most definite action against Nazism is the building of fortifications along the Swiss-German frontier. It also is expected that the Federal Council will call for a military credit soon.

Swiss Socialist and National party newspapers are demanding the suppression of foreign influence on Swiss economy. In this connection, more than one newspaper mentions that there are about 154,000 Germans in Switzerland, including Austrians, who assertedly are organized under the command on an attaché in the German embassy at Berne.

A movement is gaining ground for the greater use of radio broadcasting to offset Nazi literature, and the use of Swiss dialect in the Federal and Cantonal Parliaments.

Noted Physician Makes Recovery

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 8.—(UPI)—Comdr. Joel T. Boone, U. S. navy medical corps, and former White House physician to three presidents, was reported "coming along very nicely," following a major operation performed at the U. S. naval hospital here Tuesday.

"Comdr. Boone had a very comfortable night and is making a remarkable recovery," an official bulletin issued at 9:30 a. m. said.

Supreme Court Gets Ford Case

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(UPI)—Attorneys for the Ford Motor Co. today asked the Supreme Court to review a sixth circuit court of appeal decision permitting the National Labor Relations Board to reopen its River Rouge plant case against the company.

The Supreme court brief coincided with filing of an intermediate examiner's report in a second labor board case against the company concerning its St. Louis, Mo.

plant. In the St. Louis case the intermediate examiner, Tifford E. Dudley, recommended reinstatement of 192 workers and granting of sole bargaining rights for the plant to the United Automobile Workers union.

The Supreme court petition was based primarily on a technical interpretation of the national labor relations act.

LOS ANGELES CURT RACKETS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—District Attorney Burton Fitts reports that this city is freer from payment of tribute to racketeers than any large community in the country.

ALCOHOL AS BONE FOOD

ALAMEDA, Cal. (UPI)—Bill Hill who lives in an area on the estuary here is convinced that if he does not have enough alcohol in his system, his bones get brittle. Under these conditions he is almost certain to break a bone. Recently he fell and broke his leg for the fifth time and all, he declares, because he failed to take the necessary alcohol precautions.

During the recent war maneuvers held in the eastern section of the country, the army's Boeing bombers were camouflaged to decrease the danger of detection.

Grown-ups should never tease a child. They should not order him about. He is to look to one person for direction, his mother. Later father comes into the picture, but nobody else is to say a word. Too many words bring confusion and cause rebellion.

Protect the child from grown-ups, who mean well but do not understand the situation. The mother has a double job. She has to bring up the baby and the grown members of the family at the same time. Often it is easier to get along with the baby than it is with the others. Grandparents want to help, and they are very sure that they know more about the job than mother does.

Fond aunts and uncles are eager to lend a hand. They are anxious to see the child growing perfectly, and, like the rest of us, they are inclined to think that perfect growth would be something in their own likeness. So mother has to be a diplomat, a parent and a stern guardian at the same time.

It is during infancy that mother has the best chance to establish her place as the one in supreme authority. She is the one to lay down the law. In the early months a baby sleeps most of the time. He is not to be disturbed. Strangers are not to be allowed in his room. Close members of the family must stay at a distance. They may look, but not touch. The baby is not to be kissed. He is not to be tossed upon Uncle Dan's shoulder. He is not to be tickled by his brother, his sisters or his aunts. He is not to be rocked by anybody, and that includes grandma. He is never to be shaken or scolded or frightened. Anyone who is annoyed by the action of the baby must keep out of the way.

Sometimes among the relatives is one who insists upon taking the place of the mother. Usually it is an elderly relative who longs to bring up this child in the right way, her way. When this happens there is only one thing for mother to do and that is to say politely, sweetly, firmly, "I am the baby's mother. The responsibility is mine. In the long run I must manage with him alone as best I can. No, I cannot let anyone take my place." Say something like this and mean it, and that will end the interference.

Some of the friends and relatives will want to give you advice about the child's diet. Tell them you do not need their advice. You are following the doctor's orders about the child's diet strictly and you don't want to spoil his work and waste time and money.

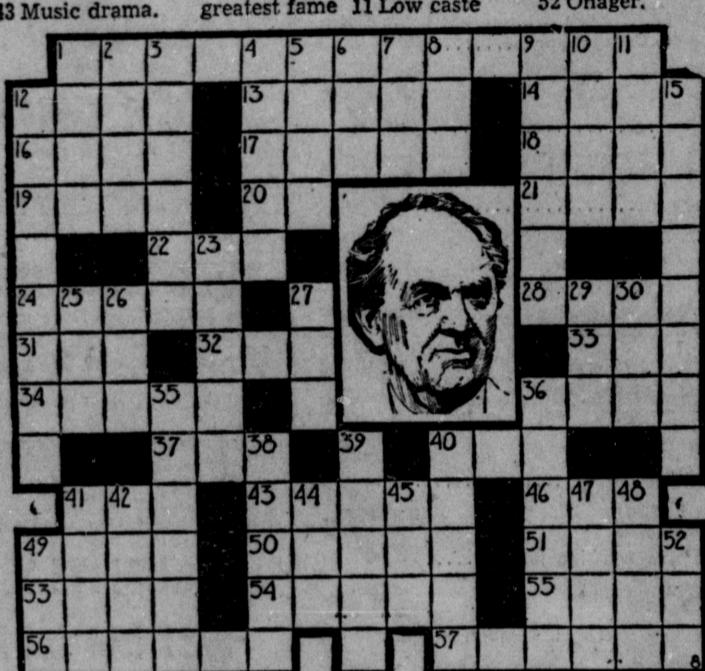

Some will offer gifts to the baby, and mother must decide what is to be done about that. Talk things over with these friends who mean so well. Let mother show them that the gifts had better take the form of some lasting benefit such as an insurance for the education of the child. Don't shower money or useless gifts upon children. They need very little. Just food, clothes mother has a double job. She has to bring up the baby and the grown members of the family at the same time.

Often it is easier to get along with the baby than it is with the others. Grandparents want to help, and they are very sure that they know more about the job than mother does.

Fond aunts and uncles are eager to tend a hand. They are anxious to see the child growing perfectly, and, like the rest of us, they are inclined to think that perfect growth would be something in their own likeness. So mother has to be a diplomat, a parent and a stern guardian at the same time.

It is during infancy that mother has the best chance to establish her place as the one in supreme authority. She is the one to lay down the law. In the early months a baby sleeps most of the time. He is not to be disturbed. Strangers are not to be allowed in his room. Close members of the family must stay at a distance. They may look, but not touch. The baby is not to be kissed. He is not to be tossed upon Uncle Dan's shoulder. He is not to be tickled by his brother, his sisters or his aunts. He is not to be rocked by anybody, and that includes grandma. He is never to be shaken or scolded or frightened. Anyone who is annoyed by the action of the baby must keep out of the way.

Sometimes among the relatives is one who insists upon taking the place of the mother. Usually it is an elderly relative who longs to bring up this child in the right way, her way. When this happens there is only one thing for mother to do and that is to say politely, sweetly, firmly, "I am the baby's mother. The responsibility is mine. In the long run I must manage with him alone as best I can. No, I cannot let anyone take my place." Say something like this and mean it, and that will end the interference.

Some of the friends and relatives will want to give you advice about the child's diet. Tell them you do not need their advice. You are following the doctor's orders about the child's diet strictly and you don't want to spoil his work and waste time and money.

Some will offer gifts to the baby, and mother must decide what is to be done about that. Talk things over with these friends who mean so well. Let mother show them that the gifts had better take the form of some lasting benefit such as an insurance for the education of the child. Don't shower money or useless gifts upon children. They need very little. Just food, clothes and tops—all of the simplest kind. Enough is enough.

Grown-ups should never tease a child. They should not order him about. He is to look to one person for direction, his mother. Later father comes into the picture, but nobody else is to say a word. Too many words bring confusion and cause rebellion.

DR. BOB BENCHLEY—here, handsome young intern. He had trouble, too, keeping up with brilliant Dr. Sargent.

Yesterday: Tran blunders into the emergency room on her first day in the hospital and is ordered out. Very shortly she is to need the benefit of prayer!

CHAPTER II

WITH burning cheeks Tran fled down the corridor—away from those cruelly amused male voices in Emergency. For, although nothing was further from her ethical code than to eavesdrop, she had heard... Her resentment was entirely directed toward the homely, dark young intern who had snickered. As for Top Sarge, of course, no one would have thought of questioning his right to be caustic, any more than if it had been a law of nature. He was "Top Sarge." Nevertheless that "feather-brain" did rankle.

She had a good deal of difficulty in finding the rest of the demonstration group, because no one had considered it worth while to tell her beforehand just where they were going, or why.

It began to occur to her that by this time Miss Miller, the senior nurse in charge of the group, just might have missed her. And Miss Miller had an unpleasantly direct way of asking questions.

In the end, it was the homely young intern from Emergency who set her feet in the right path. He came dashing around a corner just as she hastily shut the door to a private room which she had opened by mistake.

There had been a rather unpleasant moment just after she had opened that door. The patient, a florid blond lady, had sat

"Well," he gasped. "It isn't our little Utility again!"

old Sarge get you down. He's a good egg really; but with half the females in this hospital making passes at him, you can't blame him for getting a little scratchy when he finds a new one breathing down his neck."

"Really?" Tran said with delicate venom. "Well, I can't imagine any one pursuing him from personal motives—unless she was looking for a chance to put poison in his soup."

"You wait. In no time at all, you'll be swooning with adoration when he passes, like all the rest of them," said Dr. Benchley, grinning down at her, his hands still in his pockets.

Then as a door opened down the corridor, he said swiftly, "Listen, Agility, if Miller misses you and sends out a search party, you might as well turn in your apron... For your information, I just passed her little flock going into K-6... If Miller asks embarrassing questions," he called softly as she turned away, "the old one about having a nose bleed may work."

TRAN sped off down the corridor. K-6 was the Women's Surgical ward.

By good luck the door stood open. Tran slid in like a slim gray wraith and joined the little group of aproned girls following Miss Miller's crisp white linen down the long room.

Miss Miller might have modeled for a Red Cross poster as the ideal nurse. She was erect and trim, blond and coolly lovely as a snow maiden, with quietly watchful eyes, slim, beautiful white hands, and an air of serene detachment which had won for her the nickname "the icicle"... Miss Miller was not a regular nursing instructor; but as a nurse, she was recognized as tops. Rumor had it that she was Dr. Stephen Sargent's favorite nurse—a rumor, Tran knew, which gave her enormous prestige throughout the hospital.

"How about yourself?" she demanded. "After all, this isn't Emergency either, is it?"

"Dr. Sargent," he said with dignity, "got so much interested in fishing for that bullet himself that he sent me out to take a telephone call for him."

"Just a couple of errand boys, aren't we?" Tran said.

She owed him that one for snickering.

He acknowledged the thrust with a crooked grin. Then, as an elevator whirred in the shaft behind him, he released her hastily, and thrust his hands into his pockets as if to keep them out of temptation.

"Say, listen, Agility," he admonished in a lowered tone, "don't let

ECKENER RAPS IKES OVER GAS

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 8.—(UPI)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, Zeppelin chief, criticized Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ikes today for refusing to release helium gas for Zeppelin airships and called his refusal an election maneuver.

Eckener expressed confidence that Germany would obtain helium from the United States in the end and asserted that President Roosevelt personally had told him that the situation was not yet closed.

Eckener spoke at a celebration of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin.

"The question of transforming airships for use of helium has been technically and economically solved," said Eckener. "The difficulties we are facing now are not technical but may I say, political. Helium is being withheld from us."

"The situation is somewhat curiously American... one minister suddenly expressed the opinion that helium, which has been promised to us already last year, was of military significance. It is something like a joke that the gentleman voicing this opinion is the minister of interior while the ministers of war and navy deny its military significance."

Affair Not Closed

"The affair is not yet closed, as President Roosevelt personally told me."

"My opinion there can be no doubt that the refusal to export helium hurts the interests of United States airship people themselves, who need cooperation from us."

"But in election years certain maneuvers are customary in the United States and therefore it seems that the Zeppelin works must once more fight for their existence."

Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, United States navy dirigible expert, was among the guests at the anniversary ceremony.

Ligarioti vs. Menow—winner take all—including the losing horse!

Bing Crosby, owner of the Del Mar race track, hard by the bounding waves of the Pacific, is plotting the most novel race in America for his course which opens late this month.

Here's what the Hollywood crooner plans, according to unofficial but accurate sources:

1—Matching Ligarioti vs. Menow at a mile, and putting up a $10,000 purse.

2—A side bet that Ligarioti can lead Menow at every pole.

3—The winner takes the purse and the losing horse.

Crosby was to be in touch with Ligarioti to get in touch with now, today, and it is said that he will even pay Menow's transportation to Del Mar.

Menow, the fastest miler in the east, won the Withers Mile and recently smothered War Admiral in the New England mud. He is a 2-year-old and thus would get a weight concession from Ligarioti.

Ligarioti, winner of two straight handicaps at Hollywood Park, is the leading challenger to Seabiscuit in the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup July 16. He is owned jointly by Crosby and Jim Howard and was purchased by them last year in the Argentine where he reigned as the champion miler of South America. It is understood they paid $35,000 for him.

The 1938 record of match races is a chronicle of fiascos—but this proposal is undoubtedly the "tops" of them all. Hal Price Headley, a conservative "hardboiled" from Kentucky, probably won't accept the match race. In fact, there doesn't seem even the remotest chance of the affair actually coming off—but, still, it's at least a good idea.

Hollywood Park today announced a special Community Chest day on Monday, July 18. All funds received, less operating expenses, will be turned over to the Community Chest.

Permission for the extra day was granted by the California horse racing board.

DUBLIN—(UP)—Helen Wills Moody, California's tennis queen, today advanced to the final round of the Irish championships.

In the quarter-final round Mrs. Moody beat Mrs. F. Myerscough, in 20 minutes, 6-0, 6-0, in the semi-finals she eliminated Patricia O'Connell, 6-2, 6-3. The matches were played on a hard court because rain which postponed yesterday's play had left the grass soggy.

BILL MCGOWAN, TOPNOTCH AMERICAN LEAGUE UMPIRE, SAYS 55 PERCENT OF MAJOR LEAGUE PITCHERS DELIVER THE BALL ILLEGALLY ONE WAY OR ANOTHER...

BOB FELLER, CONSCIOUSLY OR NOT, GOES TO HIS MOUTH AND JUMPS THE RUBBER...

TONIGHT'S GAMES
Whittier at Santa Ana; Orange at Anaheim; Irvine at Huntington Beach; San Bernardino at Brea.

A pitcher with a broken wrist may work against Santa Ana's Stars at the Municipal Bowl tonight when Whittier pays its last call of the season.

Harold Burch, rated as the best freshman gunner to break into the National league several years, is the man. Burch fell off a seat at a Fourth of July picnic and injured his left wrist so severely he was thought to be out of baseball for the season. But word from Whittier today was that Burch would make an effort to toll against Santa Ana even with one arm in a sling.

If this assignment proves too much of a good thing, Wayne Smiley of Yorba Linda probably will go to the slab for Whittier. The Orange County league star subbed for Burch last Friday and took a shellacking, but since the opposition was Huntington Beach his baptism hardly was conducted under normal conditions. Against the weaker-hitting Stars, young Smiley might meet with more success.

Whittier brings here a hustling group of kids, except for First Sacker Johns and Third Baseman Y. M. C. A. Among the pastimers were Horace Snow, Elwayne Wilcox, Alex Lacy, John Cridde, Malcom Severance, Wayne Nelson, Liston Hill, Orlyn Robertson, Everett Berry and Bill Cole.

Jack McDonough opened a boxing arena on Fifth street at Huntington Beach. His first card featured Kid Mexico against Sailor Steve Biss. Mexico won and announced plans for an invasion of Eastern rings...

Fred Clarke, one time great outfielder and manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was in Santa Ana attempting to interest baseball men in the establishment of a Class D league professional team...

Jimmy Austin of Laguna Beach was appointed temporary manager of the St. Louis Browns of the American league when Lee Fohl was dismissed at mid-season...

Andy Smith, celebrated football coach of the California "wonder teams," was in Santa Ana to interview several outstanding prep athletes as well as break bread with California alumni...

Two-bargers by Lue and Floyd Arce in the ninth inning gave San Juan Capistrano a 2-1 victory over Yorba Linda and catapulted the Mission City team into first place in the Orange County Night Ball league at Capistrano last night.

Yorba Linda led 1-0 until the seventh because of "Sonny" Rodger's homer in the third. Capistrano tied it in the seventh, broke it up in the ninth.

Tustin fell an unexpected victim, 6-3, to Irvine's Cubs at Tustin. Bristow limited Tustin to seven hits, fanned 10. Paul Francis rapped a homer for the Cubs.

Placentia handed Costa Mesa its tenth successive defeat, but the score was close, 5-4.

Budge-Mako Doubles Team To Break Up?

By HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

...NEW YORK—Once a week I put my ears to the ground (not a particularly difficult feat, considering the size and floppiness of them) and listen to what's going on in the world of sport.

Budge should win both his singles matches, but our No. 2 singles player, whomever he may be, seems destined to lose both of his. That would make the issue depend upon the outcome of the doubles match, with Quist giving the Australian side the edge. And just as Budge is without a peer in singles, so is the curly-haired Quist the master doubles player. The courts of the world haven't seen his equal in doubles since George (Shirt Tails) Lott turned professional and disappeared from sight.

Being a patriotic soul, who thinks this country can ill afford to lose the Davis Cup, I would hate to see Budge and Mako just win the Wimbleton title for the second

'POPEYE' FLOPS HOLLIS: BRITT BEATS MURDOCK

"Popeye" O'Brien, the good old salt, gave Orange County Athletic club wrestling fans another big thrill at last night's bone-bending show by proving to his opponent, one Ken Hollis, that he could take everything Hollis dish out and still come out "winning" in straight falls.

Hollis is one of the roughest and toughest showmen in the game and pulled more dirty tricks out of his little bag than a dog has fleas. He made the ringsiders mad enough to start a riot and causing Referee "Bull" Montana to smack him on the chin several times when he failed to heed the official's warning to break. "Popeye" just let the villain go ahead and have a good time, however, and when he felt that Hollis had exhausted his supply of tricks, cut loose with a series of sizzling elbow slams to the whiskers and battered the Texan to the floor where he clamped on a Boston Crab hold for the first fall in 13:27.

Hollis came out for the second determined to ruin the sailor's manly features, pulling hair, gouging eyes, biting in the clinches and what have you, getting "Pop" (the little old man who gets $10 worth of fun out of a 40-cent admission) so mad he turned on the ring faucet and gave Hollis a shower bath. Popeye came back at Hollis with a vengeance and the two put on one of the sweetest imitations of a bar room brawl in many a day, finally cutting loose with a series of rope slingshots and body press to flatten Hollis like a piece of linoleum and win the second and final fall in 14:46.

Alvin Britt used the old arm twisting gag, the only hold the so-called ex-champion knows, to win the second and third falls from Paul Murdock and the Bronx cheer from the fans who are of the opinion that as a wrestler Britt would make a first class usher. Murdock took the first fall with a body slam in 17:07. Britt took the second and third by bending Murdock's arm over the top rope and then jumping on the lower, 9:51 and 1:11.

The Black Secret (with a white mask) took "Lefty" Pace apart with a series of back breakers to win the decision in 11:26. Ealo Pilar clever little Fillipino, came out the winner in a torrid battle with Tony Garibaldi. Benny Wilson was awarded a disputed decision over Fritz (Dynamite) Hansen.

To Quit Fighting

CHERBOURG, France—(UPI)—Former heavyweight champion Max Schmeling, returning to Germany with an injured back suffered in his recent fight with Joe Louis, has been asked by his wife, Anny Ondra, German movie star, to give up fighting.

"I made no decision yet," Max said.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT ILLEGAL PITCHING

as he starts his wind-up. "I told Feller in Cleveland the other afternoon that he must quit taking his fingers to his mouth for his own good," explains McGowan. Jimmy Dykes and others have complained about it, and unless he breaks the habit, he'll shortly have 23 opposing players and a manager shouting at him every time he starts. That wouldn't figure to help his control, and control is all he needs."

DOCTORING THE BALL

Pitchers have cut the seam of the ball with sharp thumb nails and on belt buckles.

They have discolored the ball with mud, licorice, coffee, and what not.

They have roughened it with sandpaper, emery, and fingernails to make it do tricks.

Two swipes on his trouser leg, and Eddie Cicotte of unhappy Black Sox memory had one side of the sphere shined like a ballroom slipper.

Others went to more trouble. They shined one side of the ball and blackened the other, creating a dazzling black and white effect as the ball streaked to the plate.

Howard Ehmkne actually stuck chewing gum on the sphere in the first game in the 1922 world series.

Fellows with unusually strong grips have been able to loosen the cover and thus toss a "punk" ball.

Joe Vance, who had a trial with the Yankees this spring, wore a shiny ring on his pitching hand while with the White Sox for a brief spell four or five years ago.

MECHANICAL FAULTS

More common mechanical faults are:

Not having the back foot in contact with the rubber.

Taking a step, or crowhopping with the front foot in delivering the ball.

Not coming to a stop before pitching with men on bases.

Moving the shoulders, head, arms, feet, or fingers after coming to a stop.

Not stepping toward first base in attempting to pick off a base-runner.

Failure to first back off the rubber after coming to a stop in holding men on bases when not in the act of delivering the ball to the plate or throwing to bases.

McGowan and all other umpires will tell you that they'd spend half their time running to the box if they did so in response to every mechanical defect and infringement of the rules.

more, and are closer than Damon and Pythias in a phone booth. Budge has intimated on occasion that he would refuse to play if he couldn't have his pal alongside him.

And who is it to say he hasn't the right to such a stand? After all, the tennis fathers are always harping on amateur tennis being a game that is played for the good, clean fun of it, and that nothing else matters much. So if Don placed friendship above winning, the fathers could hardly do more than applaud his fine stand and send him out on the court with a smile.

TOWNSENDITES TO HEAR MISS BURKE

Miss Harryette Burke, prominent Townsend advocate and speaker at the third National Townsend convention recently in Los Angeles, will address a meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Townsend hall, 509 West Fourth street. Local officials have extended an invitation to the public to attend the meeting. Club No. 1 has sponsored the assembly.

Three Men Start Hazardous Trip

RICHFIELD, Utah, July 8. (UP)—Three men left here today on a leisurely hike to the isolated town of Hite, Utah, where they planned to begin a boat trip down the rapid-filled Colorado river canyon to Lee's Ferry, Ariz.

The men said they were not disturbed by the fact that six other explorers who left Green River, Utah, June 20, are already three days overdue on a similar voyage to Lee's Ferry.

The latest group to brave the perils of the flood-swollen stream is composed of Dr. L. F. H. Lowe, Princeton University professor; Harold Hartshorne Jr., Princeton student, and Dave Rust, veteran river guide.

When they left Richfield they said they planned to reach Hite tomorrow or Saturday. They will embark on the river in two small boats on Sunday.

GRIM S. A. CHART ON TRAFFIC SHOWS DEATH LIKES SHADOWS

While the picture of Lieutenant B. A. Hershey and Acting Sergeant George Boyd of the city's motorcycle squad beside a chart of the nation's traffic deaths may excite curiosity, the figures on the chart are something to be remembered. For it pays to do careful driving both night and day but particularly at night.

The picture, alongside of the chart, has been placed in City Judge J. G. Mitchell's court as a grim reminder that speeders shouldn't be "repeaters."

Covers Five Years

The picture shows the two officers, one standing beside the chart, the other high on a ladder, still beside it. Actually, the chart is but two feet high while the officers are shown in normal size. The picture of the officers and that of the chart were taken at different times, the chart being enlarged to make normal proportion beside the officers. The photographer superimposed the enlarged chart on the placard beside the normal-sized picture of the officers.

The chart covers a period of five years. It reveals the death record for night and day driving from 1933 to 1937, inclusive, showing how much more dangerous it is to drive at night than in the daytime.

Night Deaths Soar

Here is the record: For 1933, day driving increased the death rate from 13,000 to 14,000, night driving from 16,000 to 17,200; 1934, 14,000 to 15,000 for day driving, 17,200 to 20,200 for night driving.

In 1935, the daytime death record was reduced, 15,800 to 15,200, the nighttime record increased from 20,200 to 20,900. In 1936, the daytime record was reduced again, from 15,200 to 14,600, while the nighttime record jumped from 20,900 to 22,000.

In 1937, the daytime record went from 14,600 to 14,900 while the nighttime record jumped from 22,000 to 24,812. The chart with the officers beside it was prepared and submitted by the National Safety council.

Kidnaper's Plea Denied By Board

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 8. (UP)—The Florida pardon board today denied a petition that the death sentence imposed on Franklin Pierce McCall, 21, kidnap-killer of Jimmy Cash, be commuted to life imprisonment.

The board rejected the request for commutation after Mrs. James Cash, mother of the kidnaped and murdered child, dramatically refused to intervene to save the life of young McCall.

Mrs. Cash was asked to intervene by Mrs. Linne McCall, mother of the kidnap. With tears streaming down her face, Mrs. Cash refused.

The board acted 13 minutes after listening to arguments of C. A. Avery, McCall family lawyer, for the commutation, and the opposition of State Attorney G. A. Worley, McCall's prosecutor.

NON-FICTION POPULAR

TOLEDO, (UP)—Ohio's oldest free public library, Toledo's 100 years old this year, has noted a growing interest in serious reading. Last year, 42.2 per cent of withdrawals were of non-fiction works.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan O'Leary were hosts at a family party, those present including Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Moseley and family of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McFadden and Mrs. Ida McFadden of Orange.

ATTACK SQUADRON TO PICNIC JULY 16

Arrangements for a picnic at Balboa on July 16 have been made by Lieutenant A. G. Hunter and Sergeant E. E. Dixon of the 34th attack squadron at March Field.

One hundred officers, men and their wives are expected to be in the party which will include the usual beach sports and entertainment.

Also scheduled for a picnic Sunday at Balboa are employees of the Paramount studios at Hollywood. A section of the beach will be reserved for the visitors who have included a variety of contests. T. K. Glennan and Joe Robins will be masters of ceremonies for the day.

Members of the class will assist in welcoming friends of Mr. and Mrs. Haldeman between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Mrs. Emma Sylvester and Mrs. S. N. Manro will arrange for the refreshments.

The Haldemans are planning to return to their other home in Burbank within two weeks. The change of climate is expected to benefit Mrs. Haldeman's health.

Attending the Harvester class luncheon when plans for the reception were made were Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Kennedy, hosts at their Midway City home; the Rev. and Mrs. Forest Woodside, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Manro, Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Smith, Mesdames W. H. Warner, Mildred Ridener, Emma Sylvester, May Overbury, Edwin Walker, A. W. Barka, president of the class; Oscar Stricklin, A. Stewart, Vernon Mohn, Margaret Brown, and N. Stowell and the Misses Azzie McMillan and Mary Turner.

PITCHFORKS, WINDOW, ICE BOX COMBINE TO HURT FOUR

Pitchforks were involved in two accidents late Wednesday afternoon at the Robert Hazard ranch near Midway City, two men coming off 'second best' with punctured arms as a result.

Clyde Hazard and Gerald Gill were working together in the hay. Hazard left the loading for a time and while awaiting his return Gill lay down on top of the load of hay. Not seeing him upon his return, Hazard pitched his work onto the top of the load, catching Gill in the arm. While Gill was being treated for the wound, Hazard in climbing from the same truck, caught his arm in some way on a fork wounding his own arm. Neither wound is serious.

The same afternoon Bobbie Suess, four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Suess sustained a double fracture of the arm when in play he fell from the garage window at his home and the arm had to be reset several times.

HOLLYWOOD, July 8.—Idol Chatter: Wonder why screen villains, off-screen, are so much more likable than screen heroes? Real names: Louise Campbell was born Louise Weissbecker. Maybe it won't be a world-shaking event, but Janet Gaynor will wear a bathing suit for the first time in her career in her current picture. Hollywoodities: Maureen O'Sullivan—Irish as the Blarney Stone—who can't stand the sight of a fist fight.

Strange how the back of a hairbrush always makes me think of the "Dead End Boys"—and vice versa. Vital statistics note: the confinement of "Zep's Girl" on the Barbara Stanwyck ranch brings the number of colts foaled there to twenty-five. Amazing what a resemblance there is between Joan Blondell and her small son, Norman! Come to think of it, you can't blame Hollywood's German actors for being concerned about Hitler's persecution of the Jews.

Getting personal: Robert Montgomery ought to read that old Chinese proverb about a closed mouth never catching flies. Suppose the reason most glamour girls have homely chums is that they want a foil for their own beauty. Hope the censor who first translates one of the street signs used in "If I Were King" has a strong heart. After seeing "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse" twice, I still think he's crazy as a loon—a swell picture!

Gypsy Smith, 78, Weds Bride, 26

Gypsy-Smith, 78, British-Romany evangelist of international fame, and his bride, the former Mary Alice Shaw, 26, theological student and musician. The couple were married by the bridegroom's 50-year-old son, Rev. Albany Smith, in Los Angeles.

LAST CALL ISSUED FOR BOYS
PLANNING TREK TO OSCEOLA

Final warning on enrollments for Osceola was issued today by Herbert R. Thomas, local Y.M.C.A. boys' secretary. The contingent from Santa Ana leaves at 7 a. m. Monday, and all registrations must be in by tomorrow, said Thomas, or "nothing doing."

It is to the interest of every business man in the county to become more closely associated with his fellow business man," Judge Tucker said, "and I believe it is the duty of all chambers of commerce in the county to assist in promoting this sort of cooperation."

Capistrano Man
Held To Answer

Taken to San Juan Capistrano justice court yesterday from county jail where he is serving a 10-day term for being intoxicated, Ramon Rios, San Juan Capistrano, was held to answer to superior court on a charge he failed to support his minor child.

Judge John Landell passed judgment at the preliminary hearing for Rios. Rios was returned to county jail to finish the 10-day term. Then he must go to superior court for hearing or trial on the second charge, a high misdemeanor.

Jail Doors Open
For Drunk Drivers

The final pre-camp meeting of Y.M.C.A. and plans were completed for the program and activities which will engage nearly 100 boys for the 10 days. Bible study has been placed under direction of Robert Kelly, the "Rag" awards will be handled by R. H. McArthur, the camping programs will be handled by Stanley Slaback, and all leaders will share in responsibility for guarding the swimming pool. Among the handicraft projects which will be offered are wood working, crafsterol, nature study and Indian lore.

Schedules Are Outlined

The daily schedule for camp starts at 6:40, with "first call."

"Setting-up" drill is at 6:50, morning devotions at 7:20, and breakfast at eight. The morning is devoted to "interest groups" and camp projects, games, swims and the like. Lunch is at 12, with the noon siesta following. At 2 o'clock the boys turn out for games and hikes. Half past three brings the daily swim, followed by free time until supper comes at 5:30. Camp-fire program is at 7:30, lasting until 8:45, when the boys end the day with cabin "family prayers," and "taps" is sounded at nine o'clock. There will be twelve days of this interesting, wholesome program.

There is still room for a few more boys, provided they enroll at once. Thomas announced his list definitely signed up to go as follows:

STREET ENIGMA
FACED BY CITY

Should a Santa Ana area dedicated 30 years ago for street purposes but still not opened as a street be given back to the original property owner or held for possible future development of the city?

That was the question which the city engineer and city planning commission had under consideration today after city councilmen hesitated to take "fast action" at their recent meeting.

Plea Explained

Charles D. Swanner, attorney, and E. B. Sprague asked council to abandon what would be Willets street between Sullivan and the westerly line of Raith street if Willets had been opened there.

"The street has never been opened and used as such," the Swanner-Sprague petition said. "Therefore we ask that we be permitted to use the area—that it no longer be considered an street property," the petition said.

Look to Future

While the councilmen spoke favorably upon the petition, at suggestion of City Attorney Lew Blodget they deferred action until next meeting, July 13, referring the matter to the city engineer and planning commissioners so they might contact nearby property owners.

Blodget said future development of the city, in spite of the 30-year "non-action" on opening the street, might require the city to extend Willets street after all.

ANAHEIM MAN HELD IN MORALS CASE

Accused of committing a felony morals offense against a 14-year-old Orange girl, Warren "Pete" Nelson, 22-year-old palenter of 830 North Zeyn street, Anaheim; was booked at county jail last night by Deputy Sheriffs G. F. McKelvey and John Gilmore.

Following his arrest by Anaheim police, Nelson assertedly claimed he and the girl had just returned from Yuma, Ariz. He said they were married there. Parents of the girl, according to a report to officials, thought she was visiting relatives in San Diego. Nelson claimed he obtained a certificate from the parents which stated she was 16 years old but further investigation assertedly shows she is not yet 15. Nelson's marriage claim will be investigated today.

NON-SUPPORT IS CHARGED

CONSERVATION PROGRAM LIST
FOR COUNTY NEAR COMPLETION

Listing of farms in Orange county to receive benefits under the Agricultural Conservation program for 1938 is practically completed, Secretary John Burnette said today and shows a total of 5890 farms, with a total acreage of 193,937.

The Orange county office came for a praise from the state department recently when it was revealed that on January 1, 1938, Burnette and his staff estimated that farms participating in the program for this year would be 5750, a difference of only 145 farms.

Of the number of growers listed for participation it is estimated that 68 per cent, or a little more than 4000 farms will participate with estimated payments running to $125,000.

Glen L. Martin is contemplating the construction of a 125-ton bombing plane. The ship would have a flying range of 11,000 miles non-stop. The ship will carry a crew of 30 men.

President Harvey H. Spears made a short report on the activity of the membership committee.

STATE AIDS IN OUTFALL WORK

State funds and not federal funds are being used in reconstructing Santa Ana's sewer line connecting with the joint outfall sewer, according to plans today.

City council obtained a $5000 grant from the state, whereas plans originally called for a WPA project in which the city had asked $7339 and had been promised $24,045.

Replace 220 Feet

Originally it was believed it would be necessary to replace 700 feet of Santa Ana's line but later it was found that but 220 feet of the line needed replacement.

Used in the replacement will be 36-inch vitrified clay pipe covered with a 12-inch concrete jacket.

Party Hostess
Uses Charming
Hawaiian Motif

From the snowy wastes of Alaska upon which her eyes have rested for the past year, to the sunny strands of Hawaii, was a step which Miss Boyd Joplin was enabled to take yesterday as guest of honor at a bridge luncheon in the home of Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, 110 South McClay street.

For gathering together a little group of the close friends of her daughter, Mrs. Russel Wilson (Ninette Rowland) and of Miss Joplin, Mrs. Rowland planned her hospitality on a very definite theme of the "Island Paradise." First development of this theme was when arriving guests were greeted by a gay Hawaiian maid in the person of little Miss Barbara Wilson, wearing the leis and grass skirt which were brought her by Mayor and Mrs. Rowland and Miss Barbara Rowland, when they visited the Islands the summer that Miss Rowland was California Out-Door Girl of the Salinas rodeo.

Spotted little Hawaiian figures appeared on the luncheon table with its arrangement of hibiscus blossoms whose pink petals shaded into hearts of glowing scarlet. Place cards in harmonious design later indicated table arrangement for contract play.

When prizes in the bridge contest were awarded Mrs. Edmund West, Miss Mary Safley and Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, Mrs. Rowland presented a pretty guest gift to Miss Joplin.

Adding to the interest of this reunion of friends made possible by Mrs. Rowland's hospitality, was the presence of Mrs. William Eugene Hays of San Gabriel, who will leave soon to join Mr. Hays in Boston. Others invited to share the afternoon in addition to Miss Joplin and Mrs. Wilson were Mrs. James Whyte (Eleonore Crookshank) of Claremont; Mrs. Robert Wade, Mrs. Lloyd Shearer, Miss Mary Safley, Mrs. Bernard Parker, Mrs. Edmund West, Mrs. Clarence Crookshank, Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Mrs. Emrys D. White, Mrs. Robert Northcross and Mrs. John A. Tessimann.

The Worleys To Arrive
In Santa Ana Soon

Santa Ana friends of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Worley and children, Clarence and James were entertained today to learn that the family is en route to Santa Ana for a visit with Mrs. Worley's brother-in-law and sister, the Rev. and Mrs. O. Scott McFarland.

Former residents of this city: the Worleys have been in New Haven, Conn., while Dr. Worley has been taking two years of graduate work at Yale. He received his Ph. D. degree in June, and was given an honorary D. D. degree from his alma mater, Ohio Wesleyan.

The Worleys visited here two years ago on their return from China, where Dr. Worley had been in the mission field for several years. He plans to sail September 1 for Foochow to resume his work, while his family remains in Santa Ana to establish a home.

RENEWING FRIENDSHIP

Years of friendship between Miss Lucy M. Shafer, 317 West Nineteenth street, and her houseguest, Miss Emily Sidebotham of Sitka, Alaska, are making their reunion an especially happy affair since Miss Sidebotham's recent arrival for a summer in Santa Ana.

The friendship so pleasantly renewed, was founded a number of years ago when the two were associated as teachers in the Dordogne-Bell school at Hot Springs, North Carolina. Their missionary work brought them still more closely together, and just year ago, Miss Shafer went north to spend the summer with Miss Sidebotham in Sitka, where the latter is a teacher in the Sheldon Jackson school.

HOLD HOUSE PARTY

WINTERSBURG, July 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bergner were hosts at a house party for several days. Included were Mrs. Bergner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hoover of Lake Arrowhead; brother, Ed Hoover and wife and three sons, of Highland; Mr. and Mrs. Bill McConnell and baby, of Bingham, Utah; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hans and baby and Miss Marjorie Bergner of San Bernardino; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Strait of Los Angeles; Mrs. Greenwood, of Huntington Beach, sister of Mrs. Bergner; nieces, the Misses Virginia and Shirley Greenwood, who make their home with the Bergners, and Mr. and Mrs. Bergner and their immediate family.

The family gathering was originally arranged to honor Mrs. Bergner's grandmother, Mrs. Nancy Wing, of San Bernardino, on her 85th birthday but the illness of the honoree that day disrupted the plans and the anniversary cake was sent her along with other gifts.

Hard Times' Theme
Observed At
Bridge Club AffairMrs. Duckett
Elected Head
Of Auxiliary

Hard times provided the theme for a party at which Mrs. Carson Smith and Mrs. Frank Lewis were hostesses last night when they received guests in the home of Mrs. Smith, 1805 Bush street.

The affair proved especially enjoyable as one of the first to be given in the home since it was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Smith a short time ago. Flowers used in decorating included a bouquet sent in by Mrs. Paul Reynolds.

White elephant gifts were exchanged at the close of bridge play. Monogrammed bath towels were prizes rewarding Mrs. Allen Carstensen and Mrs. H. Raymond Smith for their first and second high scores. Mrs. Reynolds received costume prize.

Salad and rolls were served to the group, who included the two hostesses and Mesdames Paul Reynolds, Allen Carstensen, L. E. Holmes, Paul Johnson, Clyde Higgins and the Misses Betty Seely and Mary Jean Du Bois, members with two guests, Mrs. Lawrence Reynolds and Mrs. H. Raymond Smith.

You and Your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Knudsen of Minneapolis, Minn., spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Hawley, 514 South Broadway. The Knudsens and Mr. and Mrs. Hawley, who are old friends, hadn't been together for 20 years.

W. S. MacMurray, 1130 South Parton is expected to return Saturday from a three weeks' vacation in Boston, Mass., and in his former home community of St. John, New Brunswick. This has been Mr. MacMurray's first trip to St. John in 19 years' time.

Jack Travers of Omaha, Neb., who arrived yesterday for a month's stay in the Southland, is a guest in the home of Mrs. Charles E. Hawthorne, 1023 West Eighth street.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Johnston, 1244 South Broadway are anticipating the arrival of Mrs. Johnston's sister-in-law, Mrs. W. R. Gray and daughter, Betty of Oakdale next Monday for a several days' visit.

Miss Anna Sutherland has returned to her Tustin home after a several days' visit with Miss Eunice La Bro of Laguna Beach.

Master Bobbie Williams, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Williams, 313 West Cubbon street, who underwent a tonsillectomy yesterday was showing fine improvement today at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. McCulla of Bryan street, Tustin, had as dinner guests Wednesday, their cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Averill and children, Beryl and Ariene, of Fort Dodge, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hobson and children, Faustina, Melvin, Monroe and Mildred, whose home is near Kansas City, Mo., have arrived for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Maret, 1469 Orange avenue.

Mrs. T. J. Haughton, 429 South Sycamore street had as visitors yesterday morning, John L. Irvin and daughter, Miss Effie Irvin of Phoenix, Ariz., and Miss Patricia Barnes of Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth K. Kirkland and children, Yvonne and Kenneth K. Jr., and Mrs. Kirkland's mother, Mrs. Bertha Tolson left this week for their home in Flat River, Mo., after a six weeks' stay with Mr. Kirkland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Kirkland.

Mrs. Harry La Pelle of San Fernando spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Buck, 911 Lowell street.

Mrs. Mary Perdew and daughter, Miss Peggy DePerdew, 1914 North Ross street left last night for Newport Beach where they will spend their vacation.

Mrs. Hjalmar Knudson, 316 Halesworth street, was in Santa Barbara for several days recently.

Mrs. William Taylor Stearns of New York City, who is here as the house guest of Mrs. Sara Johnston Hadden, 2021-2 South Sycamore street, is now on an automobile trip to the Yosemite with Mrs. Cora Bower, 612 West Camille street. Mrs. Bower is having her vacation from duties at Santa Ana post office. The two are expected home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Preble, 312 Wright street, are spending the month of July at Laguna Beach with Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Denny of Los Angeles.

Miss Florence Turner and Miss Lorene Thurlow of this city are expected to return today from Honolulu, where they have been vacationing for the past few weeks.

Mrs. Maude Bronson and her daughter, Miss Bernice Bronson, have returned to their home, 1054 West Fourth street, from a vacation trip to Mrs. Bronson's former home, Seattle, Wash., where they had a pleasant visit with relatives and friends. Included in their itinerary were side trips into Canada to Mount Rainier National park, Timberline Lodge on Mount Hood and Crater Lake.

Mr. H. A. Roskoven of Detroit, Mich., has arrived for her customary summer visit in this city with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales, 2020 North Broadway, and the different members of their family circle. She is making her headquarters at Santa Ana hotel.

Mrs. G. Givens is entertaining relatives from San Joaquin as her house guests.

Miss Nellie Vogelzang is in Los Angeles as the guest of her sister, Miss Frances Vogelzang.

Mrs. G. Peterson's relatives, who have been spending the past few weeks with her at the former Dr. Haish ranch, left this week to return to their home at Aberdeen, S. D.

Mrs. A. O. Packard had as guest Wednesday, her daughter from Laguna Beach.

LATE NEWS OF ORANGE AND VICINITY

TOASTMASTERS HOLD PROGRAM

Open Conference Of Young People

ORANGE, July 8.—Dr. Gordon Howard, district governor of area one, Toastmasters International, was the guest of honor at a meeting of the Orange Toastmasters club last night when the group met at the Sunshine Broiler for a program of talks. Dr. Howard told of plans for the international convention to be held at Tucson, Ariz.

The speaker outlined objectives of toastmaster organizations. He spoke especially of what such groups may do to develop the art of public speaking.

New officers were seated for the first time, with Dr. C. M. Baker as presiding officer. Other officers taking office were James Goode, vice president; Tom Bowen, secretary-treasurer; D. P. Goodrich, sergeant-at-arms, and J. E. Donegan, deputy district governor. First place in the speaking contest went to Tom Bowen, who discussed "Elastic Money." Henry Bosch was awarded second place, speaking from the subject, "My Pet Peeve."

Other speakers were Bob Swanson with the subject, "Motion Pictures"; Wilbur J. Woods, "Nebraska"; Theron Willis, "Effects of Drugs on Personality." The dictionary critic was Howard Spilker; time keeper, K. A. King; general critic, J. E. Donegan; other critics, James Goode, Tom Clark and Karl Arthur Spilker, D. P. Goodrich, Glasbrenner.

ARRIVE FROM CHILE

ORANGE, July 8.—Mr. and Mrs. John C. George, 817½ East Palmyra avenue, were anticipating the arrival today of their daughter, former Miss Arlene George, and her husband, R. W. Barr. Mr. and Mrs. Barr, with their small daughter, Betty Ann, left Chile, South America on the last day of May. Mr. Barr is an electrical engineer. They arrived June 27 in Chicago, where they purchased a car to drive across the continent to California. They arrived in San Francisco early this week and were met by their 11-year-old son, Jack, who flew to San Francisco from Glendale yesterday. Jack remained in California to attend school at the Paige Military academy.

Before trying to start your car in wet weather, it is best to check over all the ignition wires and make sure that they are dry.

PARTY HONORS MISS DIERKER

ORANGE, July 8.—One of the many lovely affairs which are being given for Miss Florence Dierker preceding her marriage to Dean Bolton of Pomona, July 17, was that of yesterday, an afternoon party at Swanson's Santa Ana, given by aunts of the bride-to-be.

Miss Dierker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dierker, 310 West Palmyra avenue and hostess were Mesdames A. C. Boice, Harry Dierker, Edna Wilke, Fred Dierker, Mamie Kogler, Ben Dierker and George Dierker.

Following an amusing reading by Mrs. Margaret Johnson, Miss Dierker was initiated into the housewives' club with a clever ceremony. Miss Dierker was presented with a set of a dozen sterling silver salad forks to match the pattern she has chosen. Small kitchen utensils also were presented to her. "Fifty" was the diversion of the afternoon.

Refreshments were served in two courses at tables spread with blue cloths and centered with red and white flowers. Present other than the honor guests and the hostess were Mesdames Alfred Behneman, Alvin Dierker, Marie Heil, Norma Dierker, Esther Elstine, Alma Talmadge, E. H. Dierker, Mrs. Luella Boswick of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Thelma Snyder Johnson and Miss Reta Johnson of Santa Ana.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, July 8.—A meeting of the W. C. T. U. is announced for Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the First Methodist church parlor. Mrs. Margaret McClelland will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Adams and son, Kerney, and Melvin Hodson have returned from Yosemite valley, where they spent the past two weeks.

Miss Elsie Goss, 173 North Pine street, has recovered from a recent illness. Mrs. Angeline Courtney cared for Mrs. Julia Goss, mother of Miss Goss, while the daughter was ill, as Mrs. Goss is confined to her bed the greater part of the time. Mrs. Goss is nearly 103 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Watson Jr. expect to visit relatives in Indiana shortly.

William Billingsley, Glendale, was a caller in Orange Thursday.

Miss Margaret Bayley, assistant to the pastor of the First Presbyterian church, is leaving Monday for a week's vacation at Santa Barbara. She will visit her chum, Miss Marjorie Marshburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Foster have left by rail for Topeka, Kans., where they will visit relatives and friends. With them were their two children.

By going over the surface of your new car every few days with a chemically treated cloth, the original paint job will last about as long as the car.

and Mrs. Luella Boswick of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Thelma Snyder Johnson and Miss Reta Johnson of Santa Ana.

SOCIETY TOLD MISSION WORK

ORANGE, July 8.—Mrs. Ralph Barnes, 341 North Harwood street, was hostess to 30 members of the Missionary society at a meeting held at the church parlor yesterday.

Mrs. Angeline Courtney, who has served the society as president for the past two years, was presented with a beautiful basket of flowers.

EL MODENA, July 8.—A wedding of interest to residents of this community was that of Miss L. Rosa Virginia Slater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Slater of East Chapman avenue, El Modena, and Lawrence Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Miller, El Modena residents.

The quiet wedding took place in South Gate, July 2. The young people were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Gus Beach of El Modena, brother-in-law and sister of the bride.

The bride, a lovely blonde, chose for her wedding ensemble a tailored suit of beige, with hat and accessories of luggage tan. She wore a corsage of orchids and gardenias. Mrs. Beach wore a gray suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias.

Both Mr. Miller and his bride are graduates of the Orange union high school. Mrs. Miller being a member of this year's class. At the conclusion of a honeymoon to be spent in Yosemite valley the young couple will make their home on their ranch in Crawford canyon.

The average speed of the winner of the last Indianapolis speedway race was 117 miles an hour. The victor received, in prize money, $38,000.

Program Held By Church Society

"Seeing the Cities" was the topic for the afternoon and "Seeing the Multitudes" is the topic for study the next six months. Mrs. Courtney was program chairman.

Mrs. Leon DesLarze sang a solo and Miss Anna Ganger reviewed an interesting leaflet in harmony with the subject for the afternoon. Mrs. R. C. Burkett will be program chairman at the next meeting.

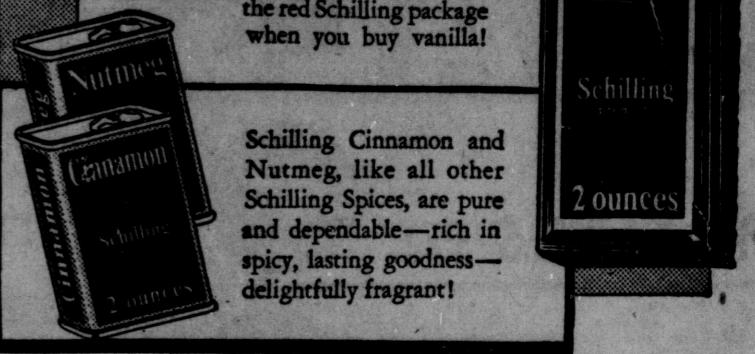

Street intersections are the scenes of more accidents than any other part of the road.

FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, July 8. (UPI)—The stock market absorbed heavy profit-taking today and resumed its upward trend in a relatively quiet session. Volume was about a million shares under yesterday's total of 2,770,000 shares.

Losses predominated in early dealings. Around mid-day the market made its lows. Thereafter, until the last hour, the list was steady, slightly above the lows. In ten fifth hour, it turned up. Some issues registered net gains.

Most early selling was profit-taking. The new demand was brought in and a better tone was noted.

Railroad news was favorable. Car loadings gained and exports estimated June gross for all railroads would show a gain over May.

Railroad shares were bought after early declines. New York Central came up 10% and some previous gains after touching 14% off 11%. So. Pacific also came back to yesterday's close of 17 after a loss of nearly a point.

Gold, which is expected to benefit from higher railroad passenger fares granted by the I. C. C., made a new high at 154 1/2 up 1/2.

MODEL COMMUNITY

Speaking of experimentation . . . News comes of a civic experiment in the industrial town of Dowagiac, Mich., which ought to be worth watching. Dowagiac, according to a recent news dispatch, has just begun an "unique, long-range experiment which may develop it into the nation's model community."

What is to be done there? The State Department of Public Instruction and the University of Michigan will develop a "planned living" program with city officials, civic organizations, merchants, and representatives of industrial employers and employees.

Feature of the "unique experiment" is a planned study of the community's economic, social, and cultural needs; planned civic recreation; classes in employer-employee relationships; the employment of an industrial advisor; agricultural instruction for factory workers with small farms; night school for farmers; a community attack on housing problems.

This adds up to planned living, but it is scarcely "unique." The features are advantages which are available to some extent in a great many cities. But in Dowagiac the attack on the community problem is an attack by a body of strongly united citizens possessed of a common vision of a common goal.

What is unique about this community's experiment is the strength of community spirit behind it. If Dowagiac makes itself into "the nation's model community," it's to be hoped that other communities throughout the country take the cue.

OUR RAILROADS LEAD WORLD—BUT

At the request of the French railroads, packing and shipping experts of the American railroads are showing Europe how to pack fragile and valuable articles in an economical and efficient manner. Outstanding examples of packing and shipping methods, as developed by the Association of American Railroads, are now being displayed at the Paris Trade Fair, and shortly will start on tour in a special train.

This is one more example of how American railroads lead the world in service and efficiency. That leadership is a fine testimonial to the work of railway managements, both past and present, and it is all the more remarkable in the light of the grave problems the industry has had to face.

We have steadily laden the industry with increased labor, tax and other costs, all of which have inflated the expense of operation. We have regulated them in every phase of operation. We have subsidized some of their competitors, and let others go unregulated or half-regulated. We have hamstrung them with a maze of laws and administrative rulings so that managements in many cases have become mere figureheads, and we have turned a deaf ear to their requests for relief, no matter how necessary or reasonable.

And in spite of all that, the American railroad industry is giving us the best rail service in the world. That is a fine achievement, but it must be pointed out that if the current trend continues it will become impossible for the industry to exist, much less go forward. We can't refuse it a living wage and expect it to serve us with maximum efficiency. We can't punish it with legislation and regulation while we pamper its competitors, and expect it to keep going as if it were well. The government must take decisive action if America's tremendous stake in rail transportation is to be protected.

EQUALITY IN WALL STREET

Just what is the New York Stock Exchange? While it undoubtedly will be known in history as one of the world's greatest market places, there are many people of contemporary times who have but the vaguest idea of what it is and what connection, if any, it may have with the daily life and well-being of the ordinary citizen. Because of this lack of understanding there is a widespread tendency to blame the "stock market" for the shortcomings of human nature. When the "market" crashed the man in Main street blames it all on the man in Wall street, or on the chicanery of market manipulators. He is like the man who comes home drunk, stumbles over a footstool and then blames his wife for not having had the foresight to remove the obstruction before his arrival.

The New York Stock Exchange is a free and open market, one of the largest of its kind in the world, and a vital adjunct to modern society. Traded on its floors are not cattle, sheep, iron, cotton, hides, etc., but stocks and bonds of companies that use those raw materials. A share of stock entitles its owner to part of the profits of a company, and a bond is a mortgage on a company. Thus, the investor swaps pieces of paper called "money" for a very tangible interest in an enterprise which he believes will pay him a profitable return in exchange for the use of his money—the old urge to trade for profit.

The stock exchange itself is a highly organized, stringently regulated market place. Within its portals all comers meet on an equal footing, and the age-old law of supply and demand is the final arbiter of price. Its business standards are of the highest and it does all in its power to protect the investor against fraud. But now, as always, the fool will be parted from his money. The stock exchange and all the rules under the sun can never alter human nature.

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Mr. Roosevelt did not pick those 22 southerners who are to settle "the No. 1 economic problem of the nation," out of a telephone book. The selections must have been made by National Chairman Farley under the delusion that he was choosing delegates to a national convention to renominate the President.

The list of open-minded, non-partisan southern economic planners included:

An unemployed utility executive who is waiting around for a government job he expects to get in a few days.

The most strongly partisan New Deal publisher in the south.

A congressman whom Mr. R. had just appointed to a federal judgeship.

Nearest to an industrialist in the whole lot was a retired Louisville plant manufacturer, old-time Bryan friend, prohibition promoter.

This cross-section of the south was entrusted to the guiding hand of Lowell Mellett, who is not an economist or a policy-planning government official, but a former newspaper editor and publicity expert, being groomed to be a second Charley Michaelson.

While Mr. Mellett is chairman of a mysterious government organization known as the National Emergency Council, it is quite well known in Washington that the emergency with which he is dealing is the coming congressional election.

These men practically settled the economic problems of the south in the few hours they met here on Tuesday. Of course they had help. The government departments had prepared reports on what was wrong and what should be done about it, so there was very little left for the convention delegates to worry about.

However, the prepared list of 17 cardinal points drew one suggestion from the floor of the executive convention session. A delegate thought the wage-hour question, perhaps should be mentioned. It was made cardinal point No. 18 on his suggestion.

In view of this situation, there is not much apprehension concerning the report which the convention will make to Mr. Roosevelt three or four weeks hence. It does not hold that Mr. Roosevelt's policies are just about perfect, except for minor readjustments which the politicians here want to make before election, a new list of delegates will certainly be chosen.

A government economist (Laughlin Currie of Federal Reserve) has made a new survey of this spending program which casts a more accurate light on it. Several government officials have been permitted to see it.

It does not deal in lavish publicity figures but computes the net spending, i. e., how much more the government puts into business than it takes out each month in taxes. Actual treasury tax receipts are deducted from actual treasury expenditures.

This chart estimates the net expenditures of the next six months at $200 million a month. For the past six months, it has run about $100 million a month. In the latter part of last year it was down to $75 million a month, and averaged $50 million for the first six months of 1937.

A congressman who thought he was defeated last time because his opponent brought up all the spare radio time for two weeks before election caused the FCC to issue the new regulations. Now a station will have to give all candidates equal time even if reservations must be cancelled.

The far-reaching fingers of Tom Corcoran may have been invisible in the selection of William Dempsey as FCC special counsel to investigate the radio chain monopoly—but they were there. Dempsey is a protege of Jerome Frank, and close friend of "Tom and Ben."

Incidentally three weeks of research has failed to develop anyone who knows or will say anything Corcoran has been doing in FCC to learn his salary there.

J. Edgar Hoover has discovered that chasing kidnapers is mild sport compared with being chased by real estate men, Hoover said in print after the cash kidnaping that it was the hardest case he ever worked on because of the mosquitoes, snakes, fleas and heat in the backwoods.

The mosquitoes, of course, were only small sized butterflies, the Florida real estate men told him when they descended upon him with a ton of protest mail. As for snakes, fleas and heat, Florida never had any. There are one or two small flies in the state but they are kept on hand merely to make northern tourists feel at home, amid the cool year round breezes.

Hoover made the mistake of sending the Floridians a current issue of the Red Cross Courier whose reporters, it appears, also saw one or two mosquitoes there. These, of course, were merely passing over Florida on their way to Georgia.

What happens when Hoover catches a kidnap may be re-enacted with reverse effect if the real estate men ever catch Hoover.

Meet the New Champ

Clearing House

Fellow Citizens:

I heard a conversation among a group of taxpayers a few days ago. Among other things they said that we pensioners should not be clamoring all the time for more pensions, under the present financial conditions, and that in many cases an old couple who receives $70 per month with the privilege of earning $30 per month, has a larger income than dozens of neighbors who are rearing large families, perhaps, and are paying their share of pension taxes. Now what I want to say to these taxpayers and ALL TAXPAYERS is that we are not the persons who organize pension plans and are using both the press and radio demanding larger pensions. I do not believe that there is a pensioner in California at the head of a pension organization.

The promoters of pension plans are self-appointed. They give us no voice in the writing of the proposed measures. They present them streamlined and finished, for our approval. We are not the guilty parties. The happiest and most contented people in California are the more than 100,000 old age pensioners. California has one of the most liberal pension laws in the nation. It is well and efficiently managed. We pensioners, as a whole, are perfectly satisfied, too.

We are not "pensioned minded" either. We look forward to the time when most of us can get employment and be free again.

"It is more blessed to give than to receive." To be self-reliant is a virtue, to be "pension minded" a vice. We began early with our boys to teach them to spurn charity and to earn a livelihood by the sweat of their brow. The pension promoters all have the same story:

"By spending we give dollars purchasing power, increase circulation, and bring prosperity" is their unanimous theme song.

The many reaching fingers of Tom Corcoran may have been invisible in the selection of William Dempsey as FCC special counsel to investigate the radio chain monopoly—but they were there. Dempsey is a protege of Jerome Frank, and close friend of "Tom and Ben."

Nation's Affairs

MORE BLOCS—EACH WITH PRICE

BY HARLEY L. LUTZ
Professor of Public Finance, Princeton University

It is sometimes suggested that we should have a number of political parties. The argument is that the American people, as individuals, hold widely varying opinions on matters of public policy, and that those who think alike should be able to send to Congress one or more members who will represent their particular brand of policy. An extreme suggestion of the same sort is that we should abandon the geographical basis of political representation and substitute one which would reflect occupational, economic and social groupings. By those who accept this kind of argument, any plan to form a third party, or a fourth or a fifth party, is welcomed.

They would encourage a labor party, or a farmer party, or a farmer-labor party, or a progressive party, and any other kind.

The more the merrier, is their attitude. We pensioners, as a whole, are perfectly satisfied, too.

We are not "pensioned minded" either. We look forward to the time when most of us can get employment and be free again.

In Karl Marx's famous book, written about 1867 on page 467, one finds this: "Abbe Lancellotti, in a work that appeared in Venice the revenue of the country may at the same time be as follows: 'Anthony Muller of Danzig, saw about 50 years ago in that town, a very ingenious machine, which weaves four to six pieces at once. But the mayor, being apprehensive that this invention might throw a large number of workmen on the streets, caused the inventor to be secretly strangled or drowned.'

France provides an excellent example of the result to be expected under the bloc system. The instability of French cabinets is notorious, and it is attributable largely to the numerous small parties and their constantly shifting alignments. The working majority of today may be a hopeless split by tomorrow. Such a situation is ideal for political "log-rolling" and the legislative process would require the approval of two or more party groups, or "blocs."
